Report Alumni Guest Lecture English Department

The Department of English hosted an insightful guest lecture for the M.A. students of English. The lecture was delivered by Madhu Pandey, an esteemed alumnus of the department.

The lecture, titled "Modern Age Novels: Trends, Themes, and Innovations", aimed to provide students with a deeper understanding of the major shifts in literature during the Modern Age and its impact on contemporary novel writing. The lecture explored the cultural, social, and political forces that shaped modernist literature, particularly the novel.

The discussion covered key themes of alienation, fragmentation, stream of consciousness, and the breakdown of traditional narrative structures, all of which are central to the Modern Age novel. The guest lecture on "Modern Age Novels" by was a resounding success. It provided M.A. English students with a deeper understanding of the modernist movement, its literary innovations, and its influence on contemporary literature. The insights offered by the speaker not only broadened students' perspectives on the novels of the Modern Age but also encouraged them to engage critically with these texts in their own academic work.

The Department of English looks forward to continuing such collaborations with alumni to enrich students' learning experiences.
